

Architect, designer and artist. I know that creativity is serving the Great Whole. In the process of creativity, we learn ourselves ... "Who are you," somehow suddenly asked me in an interesting conversation. How I was surprised , when I heard my voice saying - "I am joy .." With my creativity I want to tell you that everyone is the creator and center of his universeBe easy and joyful, building your models of the world, paying attention to all the best that only is in the world and in others ...
